

Anglo-Saxon Alliteration Worksheet

Name: Date:

Alliteration means using words with the same sound or letter. The Anglo-Saxons loved alliteration.

Example: Ample Arthur ate an ancient apple!

1. Now pick a letter. Try writing your own alliteration sentence.

Some Anglo-Saxon poems and stories were very sad and they would be told to people by singing minstrels called scops.

2. Where/who do you hear stories from? What kind of stories do you often hear?

3. Look at the Anglo-Saxon runes. Now try making your own up!
